Latest News

- The House and Senate are in session this week. The Senate is expected to consider a continuing resolution to fund the government at current spending levels this week, which is expected to last until December 9. Sticking points over funding to combat the Zika virus, and disaster assistance for victims of the recent flooding in Louisiana and elsewhere have mostly been worked out, however discussions remain ongoing. Should the Senate approve a CR this week, they are expected to then adjourn until after the November elections, followed by the House.
- The House Homeland Security Committee will hear from Chiefs and representatives from the Major County Sheriffs' Association on Wednesday at a hearing to listen to their perspectives on what they see as the current security threats to the homeland, and what needs to be done to address these concerns.
- House Homeland Security Committee Counterterrorism Strategy - On September 20, House Homeland Security Committee Chairman Mike McCaul, released a new nonpartisan counterterrorism strategy: A National Strategy to Win the War Against Islamist Terror. The strategy outlines how we can reverse the tide of terror. Chairman McCaul's strategy contains over 100 policy ideas and principles for fighting terrorism. View the strategy here. NFCA/E-ISAC RAPID DEPLOYMENT PROJECT
ISE Blog | Fred Hintermister
 On Dec. 23, 2015, substations on the Ukrainian power grid were systematically disconnected for three hours. Although not immediately known, the failures were later attributed to be the result of a coordinated, sophisticated cyber attack by a state actor with considerable technological resources. According to a report on the Ukraine incident published by the Electricity Information Sharing and Analysis Center (E-ISAC), the attackers demonstrated a variety of techniques to penetrate the Ukrainian power grid information technology network, including spear phishing emails, malware, and the manipulation of Microsoft Office document macros. Additionally, the attack included an on-site human element that was able to harvest credentials, map network connected infrastructure, and gain insight into the supervisory control system. Continue reading here.

AP, Other Media Sue FBI for Details On iPhone Hacking ToolAssociated Press | Eric Tucker

The Associated Press and two other news organizations sued the FBI on Friday to learn who the government paid and how much it spent to hack into an iPhone in its investigation into last year's San Bernardino, California, massacre. The lawsuit seeks records about the FBI's contract with an unidentified vendor who provided a tool to unlock the phone belonging to Syed Rizwan Farook, who with his wife killed 14 people at a holiday gathering of county workers in December 2015. Gannett Co., which owns USA Today, and Vice Media LLC joined the complaint with the AP, seeking to learn more about the mysterious transaction that cut short a legal dispute in which the government sought to force Apple Inc. to unlock the phone. Continue reading here.

Recap of Last Week's Hearings & Markups

Note: For more details on any of the following hearings, we can provide access to hearing transcripts upon request.

House Energy & Commerce Committee - Communications Subcommittee Markup - September 12

H.R. 2566 - Improving Rural Call Quality and Reliability Act of 2015

Status: Approved by the Communications Subcommittee on 9/12

Summary: Amends the Communications Act of 1934 to require an intermediate provider that offers the capability to transmit certain voice communications and signaling information from one destination to another, and that charges a rate to any other entity (including an affiliated entity) for the transmission, to: (1) register with the Federal Communications Commission (FCC), and (2) comply with service quality standards to be established by the FCC.

H.R. 2669 - Anti-Spoofing Act of 2015

Status: Approved by the Communications Subcommittee on 9/12

Summary: Amends the Communications Act of 1934 to expand the prohibition on the provision of inaccurate caller identification information (which makes it unlawful to cause a caller identification service to knowingly transmit misleading or inaccurate caller identification information with the intent to defraud, cause harm, or wrongfully obtain anything of value) to persons outside the United States if the recipient is within the United States. Revises the definitions of "caller identification information" and "caller identification service" to include text messages sent using a text messaging service.

Senate Armed Services Committee - Full Committee Hearing - September 13

Encryption and Cyber Matters

Summary: This hearing examined encryption and cyber issues as it relates to our national defense and military. Senator McCain expressed his opposition with proposals to separate the NSA and Cyber Command, due to Cyber Commands dependency on the NSA's capabilities. Despite this opposition, others believe that the separation should occur because the intelligence-gathering and combat functions have distinct targets and purposes. Additionally, Defense Department officials stated that they continue to support strong encryption to protect military capabilities and commercial encryption technology that is critical to U.S. economic security.

House Homeland Security Committee - Border Security Subcommittee Hearing - September 13

Moving the Line of Scrimmage: Re-Examining the Defense-in-Depth Strategy

Summary: This hearing examined the Border Patrol's Defense-in-Depth strategy, and the effectiveness of interior checkpoints as a border security tool. Some believe that the Defense-in-Depth strategy cedes crucial time and space to the drug cartels in the rural areas of the border by not apprehending individuals soon after they cross, instead using rugged terrain to wait hours and sometimes days to interdict illegal activities. As a result, populated rural areas adjacent to the border are faced with the prospect of increased illegal activity on their property and in their communities. Witnesses testified that more work needs to be done to ensure communication amongst all levels, ensure that community concerns are addressed, greater use of technology, and using data to examine what is and what is not working.

House Homeland Security Committee - Full Committee Hearing - September 14

Shutting Down Terrorist Pathways into America

Summary: This hearing examined DHS's capabilities to identify and track foreign fighters and other bad actors attempting to enter the US. The hearing also looked at how DHS shares intelligence across the components ranging from border security intelligence, aviation threats, refugee, asylum, and student visa vetting and how this is then shared with outside stakeholders to prevent attacks. Chairman McCaul expressed concerns with the security standards at last point of departure airports abroad, in that at some airports seem to only employ a minimum standard, putting the U.S. at risk. Additionally, he expressed concerns with the screening of airport personnel, as well as the ability to screen refugees entering the U.S. Witnesses stated that the screening process for refugees to enter the U.S. is much more rigorous than that of many other countries. Ranking Member Thompson additionally asked about the process to screen incoming refugees, as well as whether the security screening process in place from flights from Cuba are adequate enough. Additionally, he discussed the concerns that have arisen over the security of our elections from cyber threats.

House Education and the Workforce Committee - Full Committee Markup - September 14

H.R. 5963 - Supporting Youth Opportunity and Preventing Delinquency Act of 2016

Status: Approved by the Education Committee on 9/14

Summary: To reauthorize and improve the Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Act of 1974, and for other purposes. Federal programs to prevent juvenile delinquency and provide services to young offenders would be reauthorized through fiscal 2022. The bill would authorize a total of $855.2 million from fiscal 2018 through 2022 for state, local and American Indian tribal programs.

House Oversight Committee - National Security Subcommittee Hearing - September 14

Radicalization in the U.S. and the Rise of Terrorism

Summary: This hearing examined the scope of radicalization, and assess what steps can be taken to mitigate the rise of terror via lone wolf attacks and organized terrorist plots. Witnesses testified that more needs to be done to share information among all levels in law enforcement. As was discovered during the investigation following the Orlando attack, the suspect had been previously under investigation by the FBI, while state and local law enforcement had no knowledge of such investigation. Additionally, this Members and witnesses discussed what restrictions, if any, should be in place for those who are on a terrorist watch list from purchasing a firearm.
